Newcastle Homelessness Prevention Briefing 2020-21 Q1

We want preventing homelessness in the city to be everyone's business. Our quarterly briefings aim to build consensus and a cooperative approach by providing information on:

- data and narrative that tell us about the causes of homelessness
- the perceptions of clients, partners, and workers
- the outcomes and what works for people supported by homelessness services
- new initiatives, policy and legislative changes

This will help us to work together to consider how to:

- make the most of our resources to prevent homelessness and respond to crisis
- build on what is working well to identify and meet our challenges
- create opportunities to intervene earlier, build resilience, prevent homelessness and understand and respond to the underlying causes of homelessness
- revise the city's statutory Homelessness Strategy action plan

Our Active Inclusion Newcastle partnership approach seeks to create the partnership arrangements to prevent homelessness through coordinated support that provides consistent information, advice, and support to develop the foundations for a stable life:

- somewhere to live
- an income
- financial inclusion
- employment opportunities

Our primary challenge is to maintain our high levels of homelessness prevention in the face of the largest public sector and welfare cuts in 60 years. We work with partners to innovate, reduce duplication, increase prevention and provide more effective responses for vulnerable people. More information is provided in Newcastle's Homelessness and Rough Sleeping Strategy 2020-25

1. Our homelessness prevention system

Newcastle's approach to responding to homelessness is based on prevention wherever possible and humanely responding to crisis where not. This means understanding demand and the causes of homelessness and intervening upstream to prevent the threat of homelessness turning into a crisis. We work in this way because it's the right thing to do for our residents and it's cost effective, it also means making the most of our limited resources.

In Newcastle, there are two broad 'groups' who are at risk of homelessness: thousands of residents who are at risk of a crisis in their lives, mainly due to poverty exacerbated by the welfare reforms; and a much smaller group who live a life in crisis, who have had a life of severe and multiple disadvantage that leads to repeated social exclusion over the life course. The needs of the most at-risk residents who sleep rough are complex, e.g. 80% have drug addictions, 55% mental health problems and 95% an offending history. For both groups, lives are dominated by uncertainty and homelessness is more a symptom of the underlying issues that cause homelessness. Hence, our approach is based on developing coordinated advice and support for residents to have the foundations for a stable life: somewhere to live, an income, financial inclusion and employment opportunities.

Our approach to preventing homelessness is to intervene early. This means building on the value of a secure home as a foundation for a stable life, aligning our systems to further improve the identification of the risk of homelessness and the effectiveness of our responses and consolidating our upstream interventions.

Our homelessness prevention system operates at following levels:

- Primary prevention: for those residents who may be at risk of homelessness in the future, but are not immediately threatened in the next two months
- Secondary prevention: for those residents who are threatened within the statutory definition of the Homelessness Reduction Act 2017
- Crisis: for those residents who are ‘literally’ homeless (they do not have any accommodation they can reasonably occupy)

Risk timescale
At risk	Over 57 days 	Residents identified through our “upstream” prevention projects and those who we identify using predictive data and information received from other “touch points” to target those at greater risk of homeless. These include residents who present direct to services and, if we offer no support, will require statutory homeless assistance in the future. Many residents self-present to services unaware there is a threat of homelessness if issues remain unaddressed.
Threatened	Within 56 days 	Residents identified by our specialist services through “case finding” or self-identification to services and partner agencies. These are residents for whom, without intervention, homelessness is likely to occur within 56 days.
Crisis	Already homeless 	Residents presenting in crisis to statutory services at the point of homelessness, or who are already homeless – some members of this group will have prolonged experience of homelessness including rough sleeping.

We are making good progress in developing a citywide, systemic approach to proactively identifying and responding to the risk of homelessness, by working with partners in the voluntary, business, church and public sector to maximise the value of our collective investment to better achieve our common aim to end homelessness. We are using the learning from our Homelessness Prevention Trailblazer to improve crisis responses. This requires developing a learning framework approach, based on a common evidence base and a common understanding of residents needs so we can collectively understand the individual, systemic and structural causes of homelessness and the effectiveness of our responses.

On 20 June 2019 Newcastle City Council and Crisis announced a formal partnership focused on ending homelessness in Newcastle. This partnership will enable us to move from this strong record of preventing and relieving homelessness, to ending it altogether. The partnership will begin with an evidence review that will help us to start to form this collective understanding, but we will also need to learn and develop as we go on. The evidence review will inform the development of a strategy to end homelessness in Newcastle over ten years, which in turn creates a realistic and exciting opportunity to unite the city, enabling us to align our resources to do what's right by making homelessness rare, brief and non-recurring in Newcastle.

2. Primary prevention: for those residents who may be at risk of homelessness in the future, but are not immediately threatened in the next two months

Primary prevention activities are interventions that the council and partners undertake to identify and target households who may be at future risk of homelessness – information for the public and professionals, training for non-specialists, developing resources, partnership working and system coordination to identify risk and prevent crisis.

In 2019-20 we provided universal advice and information to 3,721 subscribers and had 69,199 hits on our web pages dedicated to homelessness prevention and financial inclusion. We now want to build on this work by gaining a better understanding of how the information we provide is used by partners and the impact it has as in preventing homelessness as part of the wider Newcastle advice and support system.

We seek to make the best use of our limited face to face specialist advice services by helping non-specialist services to identify the risks of homelessness earlier, to enable timely preventative responses. This means moving from signposting to proportionate partnership arrangements. To help us with this we have developed “spectrums of advice” for housing and homelessness and financial inclusion, which describe three broad tiers (general information, general advice and specialist advice) and act as a guide to help us better understand where partners fit into Newcastle's homelessness prevention system and what support they need to do this. 134 agencies currently participate in our partnership working arrangements, which helps to develop 'universal' responses.

To complement our spectrum of advice we provide quarterly 'Introduction to Housing and Homelessness in Newcastle' training for those working in tier 1 and 2, supplemented by e-learning. This training offers an overview of homelessness legislation, an explanation of the different kinds of housing tenure and the rules that govern them, how to apply for social housing, and how to query and challenge housing and homelessness decisions. They also cover practical information about the role of the council and the local policies and procedures that we and partners have put in place to prevent homelessness. We also offer online and face to face training in benefits, debt and budgeting and preventing sanctions, in recognition that these issues, unaddressed, can lead to homelessness. In 2019-20 we provided training to 860 volunteers and professionals from our network of partners. Face to face training was suspended in March 2020 in light of the restrictions in relation to the Coronavirus pandemic however we are currently investigating methods of delivering these sessions remotely and would hope to be able to deliver a form of “face to face” training from Q2 2020-2021 if not before

The Homelessness Prevention Trailblazer has also provided an opportunity to test new ways of working to upstream the prevention of homelessness, to make the identification and prevention of homelessness everyone's business and to improve outcomes for those residents experiencing homelessness.

In working towards integrated responses for residents, Newcastle is a transformational city that aims to break down the barriers between public services to enable residents to get better, more proactive, integrated advice and support that seeks to solve problems rather than just to pass problems on to another service or place. To help us to do this, to maximise the contacts that residents have with publicly funded services and to provide more integrated responses to residents, as part of our Homelessness Prevention Trailblazer programme we developed:

Sustaining Tenancies and YHN prevention of homelessness

The tables below show a breakdown of the homelessness prevention cases reported to us by YHN’s Support and Progression service; the headings and definitions used below are those provided by Ministry of Housing Communities and Local Government (MHCLG) for homelessness recording. YHN employ 70 staff within their Support and Progression Service, supporting prospective and existing tenants to have suitable and sustainable accommodation. The risk of homelessness in YHN is usually identified by changes to the tenant’s rent account and then support is offered. This approach has seen evictions from Newcastle’s council housing fall by 75% between the introduction of Sustaining Tenancies Guidance in 2007 and 2020. This has been achieved despite the impact of the welfare reforms and YHN rent arrears rising to £4.45m in 2019 from £2.4m in 2012. The level of forbearance is a policy decision based partly on understanding the cash flow problems Universal Credit creates for tenants and this forbearance is aligned to the provision of advice and support. The low level of evictions from YHN can be seen in section 4.

Suitable and sustainable homes

In Newcastle, many residents at risk of homelessness are supported by our upstream prevention partners, with the aim of maintaining them in their homes or finding alternatives before they reach crisis point. In addition, the current legal definition does not include all the criteria being applied locally to determine whether accommodation is suitable for a household, or the support and resources available to households who may need extra help to sustain independent accommodation.

Through this workstream, we aim to work together to develop a local definition of suitable and sustainable homes that is adopted by all partners working with households at risk of homelessness. In doing this, we want to ensure that as a city, we are confident that whenever we support a household into (or back to) accommodation, it is both suitable for their needs and sustainable given their circumstances, with support in place where necessary. Developing a rights-based approach to suitable and sustainable homes gives households at risk of homelessness or who have experienced homelessness the best chance of avoiding future crisis and creates a basis from which to work towards the remaining foundations of a stable life:

Before the pandemic we had begun testing our definition with YHN Refugee Move on Team, using their standardised action plans for clients leaving asylum accommodation, receiving support as part of the Syrian Vulnerable Persons resettlement Scheme, or receiving support for family reunion. In January 2020 we completed a desktop exercise to check these standardised actions against the components of our definition, to determine the level of overlap between existing (standardised) activity and our ambitions. We have found that most areas of our working definition of suitable and sustainable accommodation are included in the standardised approach, and we want to develop a checklist approach that can be extended to other teams and organisations.

What do we need to do next

We are working to prevent homelessness in Newcastle by improving our collective sharing, reviewing, analysing, understanding and responding. We do this by providing partnership working arrangements, jointly planning, providing consistent communications and workforce development, and simplifying processes, wherever possible. This has been especially important given that the government's welfare reforms, and the increased conditionality that now comes with welfare benefits, mean that residents have limited options to prevent homelessness.

In relation to the partnership work with the Jobcentre we will be reinstating the quarterly liaison meetings with the other partners in the process, Crisis and YHN. This will allow us to reinforce the aims and objectives of the partnership and ensure the referral and outcome information can be captured accurately. There will also be a refresh of the initial training of Jobcentre work coaches that took place in 2017 to ensure they remain aware of the role in the partnership and in the prevention of homelessness

We know that there is more we can do to further strengthen our homeless prevention system. We must improve our information and evidence to better understand the causes of homelessness. Improving our targeted responses would require us to further develop our partnerships with other public sector agencies, including those within our own council (e.g. Social Care, Revenues and Benefits). We also want to extend our homelessness prevention work to health and social care services, to support vulnerable residents to have a stable life.

3. Secondary prevention: for those residents who are threatened within the statutory definition of the Homelessness Reduction Act 2017 (HRAct)

This category covers our support for people presenting to the Housing Advice Centre (HAC) at risk of homelessness and information on people accessing accommodation commissioned by the council to respond to homelessness. Information on the work done to relieve the homelessness of clients is included in section 4.

Under the HRAct local authorities have two new main duties:

- The “prevention” duty – In cases of threatened homelessness the local authority must take ‘reasonable steps’ to help them avoid becoming homeless. The tables below cover this element
- The “relief” duty – In cases where the resident is homeless the local authority must take ‘reasonable steps’ to help applicants to secure accommodation for at least six months. We have included the figures on this in section 4, which covers those residents who are ‘literally’ homeless (they do not have any accommodation they can reasonably occupy)

Volume	2019-20	19-20 Q4	20-21 Q1	20-21 Q2	20-21 Q3	20-21 Q4

Mental health	1,168	267	207
Physical health	918	204	129
Offending history	840	183	170

The table above shows the headline figures of presentations to HAC. In Q1 there was a rise in the number of calls to the EHO compared to the previous quarter, and a rise in the number of general contacts to the Housing Advice Centre. On 23 March the Housing Advice Centre closed to face to advice and the service is being delivered remotely, this in part accounts for the rise in contacts and is set within the disruption of the lockdown in Q1. The table below shows the number of cases where the prevention duty was ended in the quarter and the reasons why the resident presented to HAC.

	2019-20	19-20 Q4	20-21 Q1	20-21 Q2	20-21 Q3	20-21 Q4

Family no longer willing or able to accommodate	61	28	25
Relationship with partner ended (non-violent)	16	7	4
Required to leave accommodation provided by Home Office as asylum support	49	11	3

We can see from the table above that for this quarter, family being no longer willing to accommodate was the highest reason this quarter and again the impact of lockdown and family members having to shield accounts for some of this rise.

The table below shows the number of cases where the prevention duty was ended in the quarter, the main activity carried out and the outcomes.

Secured existing accommodation for 12 months	21	2	0

In Q1 2020-21 45% of prevention cases were closed with either existing accommodation secured, or a longer-term alternative found. There was a lower number of cases ended in Q1 than we would expect in normal circumstances but as previously noted Q1 covers almost the entirety of the national lockdown in the UK. We are continuing to review the measures we use to record our interventions under the HRAct and, whilst some indicators are driven by requirements of the official returns to MHCLG, we are keen to widen the scope of our information in order to gain a clearer idea of the range of our interventions and their outcomes. This is particularly true in the reporting of the homelessness prevention figures.

The Council commissions a range of services for people at risk of homelessness including those with complex needs. The responses we commission have historically been to meet our homelessness duties. This includes rooms from third party providers for people facing homelessness in a range of supported accommodation settings.

The table below shows us the number of admits to accommodation-based services, broken down by short term relief, supported and emergency units and the reason for admission to short term relief and supported accommodation (Further detail on the emergency bed admits is given in section 4). What was previously described as crisis accommodation is now known as short term relief accommodation

Supported accommodation admissions	2019-20	19-20 Q4	20-21 Q1	20-21 Q2	20-21 Q3	20-21 Q4

We can see from the table above that there was a fall in the total number of admits this quarter compared to the previous and in the number of individuals that those admits relate to. There is more detail on the emergency bed admits in section 4 of this briefing, as the use of these beds has helped us to deliver on our aim to make an offer of accommodation to everyone with a connection to Newcastle who is literally homeless, regardless of their priority need status. There will be degree of double counting with the admits to the emergency accommodation as in many cases there is a subsequent admit to short term relief or supported accommodation in the same quarter. We are looking at way of separating out this recording for future briefings so that it is clearer where multiple placements in a quarter are the result of an emergency bed admit and a subsequent move to crisis or supported accommodation.

The table below shows us the measures recorded under the Supported Housing Move On protocol and shows that whilst there has been a small rise in the number of discharges, the majority of those discharges are still moves to another supported accommodation placement, confirming our analysis that there is a high degree of churn within the sector.

Move on assessments completed in the quarter	Q4 19-20	Q1 20-21	Q2 20-21	Q3 20-21

Total number of discharges	439	345
• Supported accommodation	156	147
• Independent tenancy	41	40
• Friends and family	39	38

Only 9% of those leaving commissioned accommodation in 2019-20 moved to an independent tenancy of any kind, and over half of those who did moved to a YHN tenancy.

We have always seen a move to YHN as highly desirable due to the level of security of tenure and support available for potentially vulnerable tenants. Through the MHCLG Rapid Rehousing Pathway we were successful in our bid to deliver additional support to move residents on from supported and hostel accommodation, support that will be provided by YHN's Support and Progression Service. This funding will:

- increase the capacity of the YHN Support and Progression team, to enable specialist workers to support the pathway from supported accommodation (including emergency crisis beds) and those being discharged from institutions into YHN tenancies
- provide tenancy support to enable independent accommodation to be sustained
- fund 2 Pathways Workers who will engage with supported accommodation providers to identify actions to address barriers that would otherwise prevent those most excluded from accessing accommodation. These workers will also directly support people through the Pre-Tenancy Readiness Assessment process (PTRA) and, in conjunction with their Support Worker and specialist drug and alcohol and mental health practitioners, identify support needs and offer appropriate interventions to ensure tenancies can be sustained

This work will be alongside the development of the Beechgrove project which YHN opened last quarter, an innovative scheme to deliver 5 units of semi-independent living with support for people moving on from supported accommodation and hostels. The next step is to evaluate this project and hopefully see the concept rolled out to other small blocks throughout the city.

The table above covers the measures recorded as part of the Prevention of Eviction from Supported Housing Protocol and shows us that there has been a fall this quarter in the number of people being evicted. Most evictions have again come from crisis accommodation, with violence and disruptive behaviour again accounting for most evictions (83%). Addressing the level of evictions from commissioned provision is one of the main areas of focus for Commissioning's Service Improvement Lead and they have undertaken a review of the protocol in line with Homeless Link principles around managing risk in accommodation

What we need to do next

Beyond the end of the Homelessness Prevention Trailblazer programme, building on the closer working with our commissioned accommodation services and with the Housing Advice Centre, Commissioning has been able to identify and co-design specific functions and requirements that have been reflected in the system models and service specifications for the new 'Homelessness Prevention and Relief Responses' contracts that came in to place on 1 October 2019. These contracts have a stronger preventative focus and greater emphasis on partnership working to support our statutory duties and policy aims, including:

- improving our evidence base by increasing data quality – this will be achieved through a “data payments” Payment by Results element in the new contracting arrangements;
- developing accommodation models that can respond flexibly to unpredictable demand, including scaling up of a Housing First provision – this will be a longer-term programme of work with cross-council partners and accommodation providers in the city to transform our accommodation, moving from larger single site hostels to smaller environments that are more dispersed and community-based; and
- creating more opportunities for collaboration through a ‘distributed leadership’ approach with commissioned accommodation providers, looking at joint solutions to improve our responses

Although we have outlined a wide range of our activities, it is important to recognise that there are differences in the availability and quality of homelessness ‘pathway’ services, e.g. our responses for those leaving prison and asylum were identified in the Heriot-Watt research as areas for improvement. It was also highlighted that prevention activities differ by tenure, e.g. private rented sector and housing association tenants have fewer and less effective responses, which are limited by a lack of information making it more difficult to systematically identify and respond to the risk of homelessness at a sufficiently early stage. We also know we need to improve our information systems to better understand the impact of our interventions. YHN’s Support and Progression Service starting to use the Newcastle Gateway will help to improve our understanding of residents’ needs and the effectiveness of our responses.

The coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic has shifted our focus and more of our resources to responding to those residents who are homeless or are immediately threatened with homelessness. The Emergency Housing Panel allowed us to focus our attention and resources on residents who were homeless; prioritising, reviewing and reaching consensus about those residents each day during the lockdown to enable moving them into independent housing quicker than we ordinarily would have been able to do. From April to June 2020, 222 allocations were made by the panel preventing homelessness. The panel strengthened collaboration and enabled a clearer pathway between our supported homelessness accommodation and general needs social housing. As a result, it has been promoted as good practice by the Local Government Association and the development of a rapid rehousing pathway based on the learning from the panel is one of the key actions in our Homelessness and Rough Sleeping Strategy.

4. Crisis: for those residents who are ‘literally’ homeless (they do not have any accommodation they can reasonably occupy)

This section covers our responses to people who are literally homeless and includes those sleeping rough as well those presenting to HAC as literally homeless and those admitted to Cherry Tree View.

The table below shows the main reasons that people presented to us when already homeless and in need of the ‘relief’ duty under the HRAct. The majority are as a result of friends or family no longer being able to accommodate them.

	2019-20	19-20 Q4	20-21 Q1	20-21 Q2	20-21 Q3	20-21 Q4

Eviction from supported housing	122	34	17
End of private rented tenancy	90	19	15

As with the prevention figures in section 3 above, we have aimed to reduce the number of cases categorised as ‘other’ and this has fallen substantially as a reason for homelessness.

There is also a lower rate proportionally of people presenting as homeless due to the end of a private rented tenancy.

The table above shows that the outcome in Q1 2020-21 under the relief duty for 61% of people was securing accommodation for at least 6 months (the minimum requirement under the Act) and 4% of presentations were reconnected back to the local authority area where they had a connection.

We have aggregated the admits showing those that came via the Housing Advice Centre after an assessment under the Homelessness Reduction Act and those that were placements outside of this duty and include temporary moves requested by YHN and placements in an emergency by social care

The table below gives shows us the admits to emergency accommodation this quarter. We have also included some discharge information to show that the majority of those placed in an emergency bed then move on to a full placement in either crisis or supported accommodation. 75% of placements in emergency accommodation lasted less than 5 days.

The table below shows the number of evictions from YHN. These evictions represent those cases where every intervention has been exhausted and whilst they are risen the last two quarters this is still a low number of evictions from a provider with the amount of housing stock that YHN has. We have included these figures in the Crisis section as they represent those cases where interventions have in the most part failed to prevent a crisis. In Q1 2020-21 partly due to the restrictions placed by the Coronavirus pandemic there were no evictions from YHN for either rent arrears or anti-social behaviour.

The main source of the information we have on people rough sleeping in Newcastle is from Changing Lives' Outreach Team which we commission to provide daily street outreach and a rough sleeping drop in centre. Information from the Outreach Team shows increasing numbers of people found rough sleeping as shown in the table below. The above figures are based on the Outreach Team's daily reports on their contacts with people who they find in the city centre and surrounding areas. The Outreach Team also respond to alerts from members of the public that contact the Council's rough sleeping line. Although the information has limitations and might not capture everyone that is rough sleeping, it does provide a daily snapshot in contrast to government's single annual snapshot.

Rough sleeping is rarely a result of a lack of accommodation alone and we can see that substance misuse is often an issue for people found by the outreach team, as are mental health issues. Information about people sleeping rough in Newcastle is recorded on the Newcastle Gateway by Newcastle's street outreach service based on their daily contacts with people who are found in the city centre and surrounding areas. This has limitations and might not capture everyone who is sleeping rough. However, it does provide a good indication based on verified contacts with people who are bedded down as opposed to self-reports

Local connection of those found sleeping rough

What we need to do next

We have been successful under the MHCLG Rapid Rehousing Pathway where we were awarded navigator funding to support extended street outreach and harm reduction for people sleeping rough. We will use this funding to:

- Work with Changing Lives to maintain the additional capacity that enables extended outreach and an enhanced navigation offer that includes a 'refer and accompany' support for people sleeping rough. The funding will enable increased provision of the drop in at City Road and opportunities for targeted interventions including 1:1 appointments, in-reach from other partners, and accompanying people to appointments to increase access to support and services, particularly to take up offers of accommodation
- Provide an integrated harm reduction offer – the team will be complemented by a Harm Reduction Worker seconded from CGL

Separate to MHCLG funding, we have worked with Northumberland, Tyne and Wear NHS Foundation Trust (NTW), and the Clinical Commissioning Group to submit a bid for a Public Health England Rough Sleeping Grant: Testing Community Based Models of Access to Health Services. This proposal was successful and will deliver a model of in-reach provision of dual diagnosis workers into short-term relief accommodation.

MHCLG have also made available funding to Newcastle for a Rough Sleeping Reconnections Navigator to provide assertive reconnection support to people sleeping rough in Newcastle who don't have a local connection to the city.

We are also developing a partnership with the Police to improve identification & consistency of responses to rough sleeping and begging in the city this will build on a pilot undertaken between City of London Police and City of London local authority. More information on this will be available in future briefings

During the lockdown we saw an 89% reduction in people found sleeping rough<sup>1</sup>. This reduction was achieved for two key reasons. Firstly, and most importantly, all our specialist homelessness accommodation remained open during lockdown, allowing a safe and suitable place for people who were homeless. This was only possible due to the commitment and responsiveness of our partners, and the heroic efforts of frontline staff working in those accommodation projects. Secondly, our partnership arrangements with our Rough Sleeping Coordinator, Housing Advice Centre, Changing Lives' Multiple Exclusion Team, and the Police have allowed us to coordinate more personalised responses for each individual person sleeping rough. We want to build on this partnership work to realise this opportunity to achieve our Street Zero vision of ending rough sleeping in Newcastle by 2022. Funding through the Government's Rough Sleeping Initiative has already helped us to expand our outreach support to people sleeping rough in the city and to develop a Housing First pilot with YHN. As part of our approach we will explore how we can work as a city to best respond to people who have no recourse to public funds.

5. Newcastle's Homelessness & Rough Sleeping Strategy & Coronavirus recovery planning next steps

The coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic has shifted our focus and more of our resources to responding to those residents who are homeless or are immediately threatened with homelessness and along with our Homelessness Prevention and Rough Sleeping Strategy 2020-2025 is the mindset change from aspiring to prevent and relieve homelessness to aspiring to end homelessness.

This strategy builds on partners' good work and on our learning from the emergency responses to the coronavirus pandemic lockdown. The city's collective responses to the risk of homelessness demonstrated the value of our partnership approach, retention specialist homelessness services and of Your Homes Newcastle's socially inclusive approach to the management of the city's 26,000 council homes. This strategy also provides the framework for our Covid-19 homelessness recovery plan. Our 5 key priorities will be

- Rapid rehousing pathways

We will use the learning from the Emergency Housing Panel to strengthen the integration of support services at key touch points for vulnerable residents when they move to independence or struggle to keep their home. The panel approach helps to improve the consistency of assessments and to better identify what is needed to facilitate independence. This work will be further supported by Crisis' additional investment in Newcastle to provide a Housing First service to support vulnerable residents and to inform commissioning.

- Coordinated solutions for named people who are sleeping rough

We will build on the good work of our specialist homelessness sector during lockdown in maintaining access to services that led to an 89% reduction in people found sleeping rough. This has shown the value of having increased headroom in our homeless accommodation and of more conclusive support planning. We want to extend this way of working and adopt the principles of the 'by name list' approach to developing more personalised solutions.

- Identifying opportunities to better target support to residents living in private rented tenancies

To maximise the opportunities of touch & trigger points by building on the work to align the discretionary payments that Revenues & Benefits provides with appropriate advice & support – for example, as has been done with Discretionary Housing Payments and learning from the 'case finding' approaches of the Active Inclusion multidisciplinary team – such as has been done to maximise the contacts that residents at risk have with other services, like Citylife Line, and taking this approach to strengthen the collaboration with health & social care services for residents at risk of homelessness

- The Council and YHN leading the wider housing sector to develop an approach of having no evictions into homelessness

We will build on the Sustaining Tenancies Guidance which led to a 75% reduction in evictions from Your Homes Newcastle tenancies since 2008 to have an approach to no evictions in to homelessness. This is aligned to the corporate debt review and strengthening our understanding of the total cost of debt and moving from a culture of collection to connection.

- Transitions programme

Systemic support residents to help transition when their circumstances change. Developing a place based approach which allows us to develop personalised support to the individual but also improve transitional pathways & strengthen local systems to improve outcomes for all and working with partners in the Voluntary & Community Sector to explore housing/support options for households we are prevented from supporting e.g. seeking funding for a short term accommodation & wrap around support offer for current No Recourse to Public Funds cohort as part of Covid-19 recovery.
